

WHAT WE'VE ACHIEVED TOGETHER IN 2020

As we say goodbye to 2020, we're looking back at the positive moments—the impact we've had by coming together to tackle racism.

The COVID-19 pandemic has taken a toll on the world's health; and the economic insecurity caused by the crisis has put black people at risk of further racism, ill health and loss of income/ freedom.

At EDUK, we've moved many of our face-face training sessions online, focusing on how you can advance Anti-Racism efforts from the safety of your home.

As a company, we still made incredible progress in 2020.

Here is some of what we have achieved:

- Anti Racism book club established November 2020. Next meeting January 19. 2021
- We ran six half day workshops 'Let's Talk About Racism' - free training sessions for over 100 delegates from schools, colleges and charities.
- Produced 4 Podcasts from the training sessions to help employers develop Anti-Racist strategies within their workspaces.
- Delivered over 300 EDI courses on Unconscious Bias, Racism, inequalities, Equality Impact Assessments and more
- Produced a wide range of e-learning courses for schools, colleges and employers.
- Produced a video on racism and how to develop Anti-Racist strategies for the workplace.
- Expanded our client base to:
 - Hairdressers
 - Vets
 - Retail stores,
 - NHS
 - Car industry
 - Financial Sector
 - Fire Service
 - Children's Services
 - International companies in USA, Japan, Jamaica and more
- Conducted a wide range of consultancy for
 - Children's Services
 - Financial industry
 - Fire Service
 - Colleges

We wish you a happy and healthy New Year and we look forward to working with you in 2021
